I only filed due to a collection agency who has started hounding me only after I cleaned my credit and purchased my family home "MY GOAL". I was very pleased to see that I was on track with so many of the same principles already in my current finances. I was excited to learn more that has and will benefit my finances even further and become more successful when I start over again in rebuilding my credit this time. I feel that I can and will some day take a well deserved family vacation and most of all get rid of this predator who has literally robbed me and my family of our financial accomplishment.
